

COMPANY NEWSLETTER

Construction & Property

WWW.JPD.UK.COM

March 2026

New Project - Forest Place, Dalston

JPD Corporation Ltd have been selected as the preferred contractor on the Forest Place Project in Dalston. The purpose of the project is to fully refurbish and extend the site and warehouse of William Gee Haberdashers who have occupied the site for the last 100 years.

They have partnered with The Benyon Estate to act as the client and have appointed Artform to act as the project managers alongside GPAD as architectural designers.

The refurbished scheme covers 3 existing buildings with the construction of a new link building, this will provide new retail units on the ground floor and basement, with 9 new apartments on the upper floors.

The attached artist impression pictures show the final scheme.

Progress Update - Forty Lane, HA9

Forty Lane, HA9 - Groundworks are progressing on programme. Additional ground beams were introduced to the project to allow for a cantilever slab to be constructed in the piling exclusion zone near the boundary of one of the Adjoining Owners. All reinforcement and below ground drainage is in place, awaiting concrete pour early next week.

Next stage of works - LGSF superstructure!

New Partnership

JPD is excited to announce its partnership with Prolo, a next-generation procurement platform designed to streamline operations within the construction industry.

Prolo offer a smart procurement platform built to help the construction industry eliminate hours of administrative work and grow their bottom line. By enabling frictionless ordering via simple voice or text commands, they automate workflows and secure market-tested pricing to keep projects on budget and on schedule.

On Wednesday 25th March, Prolo held an event celebrating some of their most valued clients with a deep dive into the world of fine wine expertly paired with delicious food. It was a wonderful opportunity to connect and share insights for these vital partnerships over a truly memorable culinary experience.

